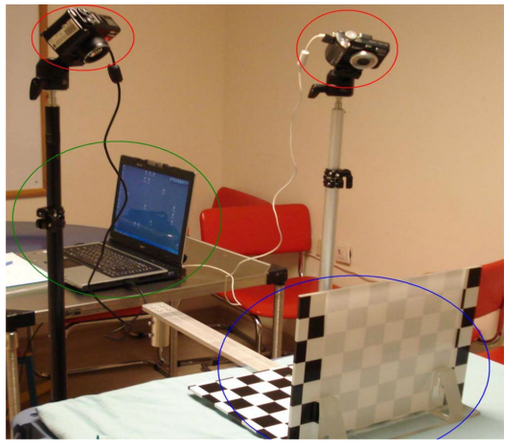
Suitable techniques

VECTRA H1 handheld 3D scanner

Image from:
https://www.canfieldsci.com/imaging-systems/vectra-h1-3d-imaging-system/

Stereoscopic vision system



Stereoscopic Vision system with two cameras and calibration board (Image: Sokolover 2014), self-built device

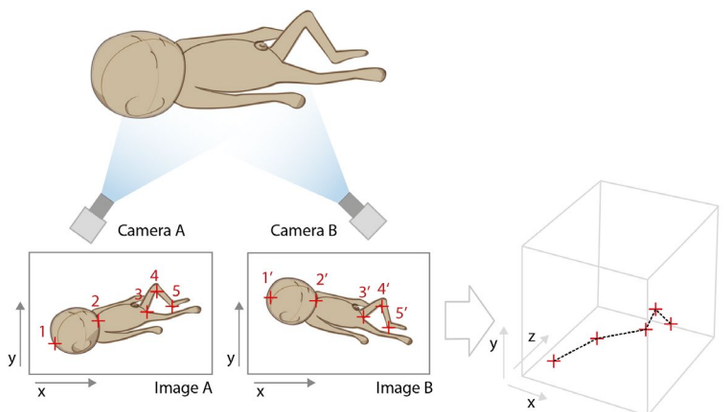


Illustration: CCBY RHJ van Gils 2022

Potentially suitable techniques

Scanify handheld 3D scanner

Image from:
https://www.dream3d.co.uk/product/fuel3d-scanify/

OMEGA handheld 3D scanner[a]

Image from:
https://www.willowwoodco.com/products-services/omega/hardware/omega-scanner-3d/

M4D handheld 3D scanner[a]

Image from:
http://rodin4d.com/en/Products/acquisition/m4d-scan

[a]The OMEGA and M4D seem technically identical.

Occipital Structure Sensor with iPad handheld 3D scanner with AutoAnthro software

Image from:
AutoAnthro — Body Surface Translations

Image from:
https://structure.io/structure-sensor/getstarted

Smartphone handheld 3D scanning (via slow-motion video capture)

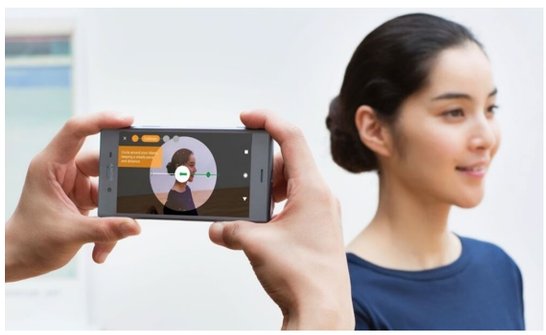

Image: Stock photo of Smartphone 3D scanning

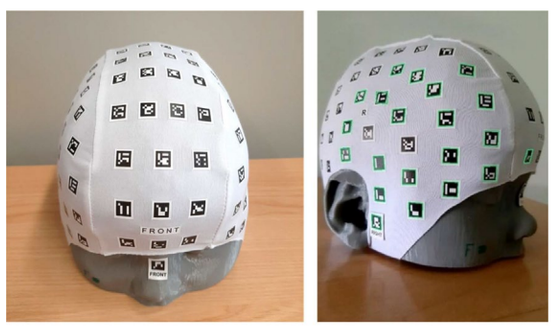

a b

Coded cap, needed for 3D scanning with Smartphone slow-motion video (Image: Barbero-Garcia 2020)