Notes: The numbers on the title of each column refer to the question number as presented on the adapted Risk of Bias Assessment Tool; the summary rating is the rater's subjective judgement given the answers for the preceding questions.

Questions:

1) Was some form of random selection used to select the sample, OR, was a census undertaken? a) A census was undertaken with an attempt to include all index cases and TB contacts in a specific setting. The answer is: Yes (Low risk).
b) A census was NOT undertaken. However, the sample was selected using simple random sampling. The answer is: Yes (Low risk).

c) A census was NOT undertaken, and no random sampling was used. The answer is: No (High risk).
d) Not reported. The answer is: No (High risk)

2) Was the likelihood of contacts non-response bias minimal (considering just the initiation of CI, not the whole follow-up period)? a) Yes, participation of contacts was reasonable (> or = 75%). The answer is Yes (Low risk).
b) No, participation rate was < 75%. The answer is no (High risk).
c) Not reported. The answer is: No (High risk)

3) Was the likelihood of index case non-response bias minimal? a) Yes, participation of index cases was reasonable (> or = 75%). The answer is Yes (Low risk).
b) No, participation rate was < 75%. The answer is no (High risk).
c) Not reported. The answer is: No (High risk)

4) Were data collected directly from the contacts (as opposed to a proxy)? a) Data was collected directly from all contacts. The answer is: Yes (Low risk).
b) In most of the cases, data was collected directly from contacts. The answer is: Yes (Low risk).
c) Data was collected from a proxy (such as parents in the case of children or through the index case) The answer is: No (High risk).
d) Retrospective study. The answer is: No (High risk).
e) Not reported. The answer is: No (High risk).

5) Was an acceptable case definition used in the study? a) The study used the same definitions proposed by the contact investigation guidelines for index case and TB contacts (household and/or close contact). The answer is: Yes (Low risk).
b) The study did not use the same definitions proposed by the contact investigation guidelines for index case and TB contacts (household and/or close contact). The answer is: No (High risk).
c) Not reported. The answer is: No (High risk).

6) Was an appropriate initial screening of contacts done? a) A screening tool was used for the initial screening of contacts. The answer is: Yes (Low risk).
b) No screening tool was used for the initial screening of contacts. The answer is: No (High risk).
c) Not reported. The answer is: No (High risk).

7) Was the same mode of data collection and investigation used for all TB contacts? a) The same procedures were used for all TB contacts in the study. The answer is Yes (Low Risk).
b) Different procedures were used to collect data from TB contacts. The answer is No (High risk).
c) Not reported. The answer is: No (High risk).
