The Impact of Mental Health Conditions on Oral Anticoagulation Therapy and Outcomes in Patients with Atrial Fibrillation: A Systematic Review and Meta-analysis

AF patients with mental illnesses have lower prevalence and quality of OAC therapy

AF patients with any mental health condition have 25% higher risk of ischemic stroke and 17% higher risk of any major bleeding

